

Southern New England Conferences together call ACM for Communications

Tiffany Vail, who has served in the Massachusetts Conference for almost 20 years, has been named the Associate Conference Minister for Communication for the Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island conferences starting March 1.

"We are excited about this new position sharing opportunity, and we welcome Tiffany to this new role among our three Conferences," the three Conference ministers said in the joint announcement.

Conference, Episcopal Diocese, to share missioner

In what may be the first joint appointment of its kind, the Rev. Dr. Margaret Bullitt-Jonas is now serving as the volunteer Missioner for Creation Care for the Massachusetts Conference and the Episcopal Diocese of Western Massachusetts.

"Climate change teaches us that we're all in this together. This first of its kind sharing of a staff person between the UCC and the Episcopal Church echoes this reality," said Conference Minister and President Jim Antal.

Survey, conversations, available for Season of Discernment

Members of churches across the Conference are being invited to participate in a survey and in upcoming conversations regarding the possibility of merging the Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island conferences.

The survey is now available online at macucc.org/rimact. Face-to-face events are also being planned on the topic, including "Fireside Chats" at Super Saturday on March 12 and a southeast regional gathering on April 7. Details are available on that same page.
