IN CASE OF Evacuation: do you know where the nearest shelter or motel that accepts pets is located? Can family or friends offer shelter?

What you should have in your pet's emergency "go" kit:

___ Water and food to last up to a week: canned food will last longer than dry and will provide moisture if water is difficult to access. Remember – pack dog bowls and a can opener!

___ Medications: Remember to include medication, cooler if refrigeration is needed, and include method of dispensing (eye dropper, etc.).

___ Pack litterbox and litter and waste disposal bags, trash bags

___ First Aid Kit: latex gloves, gauze and tape, scissors, isopropyl alcohol wipes, tweezers, antibiotic ointment, Benadryl, anti-diarrhea, flea and tick ointment, wash cloth or pet wipes, towel.

___ Proof of Ownership: receipts, vet's bills, photos of you with your pet, microchip info., etc.

___ Proof of recent vaccinations: if you need to go to an emergency shelter you may need to prove vaccinations are up to date before you are allowed access.

___ Leashes, harnesses, muzzle, pet carriers, favorite toys, bedding, an old t-shirt, flash light: use leashes or harnesses to help maintain control during emergency conditions. Pet carriers may offer a sense of safety and security; bedding or an old t-shirt will help calm nerves by providing familiar smells.

___ Have ID tags visible and available.

___ Have a list of pet-friendly motels in case shelters are full.
